

Product Features

Sunday, October 17, 2021 8:17 PM

In today's fast paced and smth world, Engineering graduates have seen a rocketing surge. With the widespread information and accessibility, rises the competition and confusion of freshly graduated students or students in general regarding entering the workforce. ONTBC is a one stop skills training company that offers various technical and personality development courses in different sectors of engineering such as software, mechanical, civil, computer science, computer engineering and many more.

Product features

